

Amendments to the Specification:

Please replace the paragraph beginning at page 4, line 14 with the following amended paragraph:

[0016] The terms “digital media” and “media player” use the word “media” in the sense of digital content and the organizational/presentation tools of mass communication (e.g., newspapers, magazines, radio, television, etc.). In contrast, the term “machine-readable medium”, which is defined further below, uses the work word “medium” in the sense of the intervening substance through which machine instructions or digital content generally is transmitted or carried.

Please replace the paragraph beginning at page 24, line 6 with the following amended paragraph:

[0070] Machine instructions (also known as programs, software or code) may be stored in the machine 500 or delivered to the machine 500 over a communications interface. As used herein, the term “machine-readable medium” refers to any media used to provide information indicative of one or more operational instructions for the machine 500. Such information includes machine instructions provided to the processing system 502 for execution, and such media include memory devices/units, ~~as well as signals on a channel.~~